

Prince of Songkla University Announcement

Subject: Guidelines for teaching, learning and exam management during the coronavirus disease (COVID-19) pandemic situation

Academic Year 2022

The current coronavirus disease (COVID-19) outbreak situation has a tendency to ease, with the detection of infected people and the need to seek medical care at a reduced number. Therefore, considering the regulations issued under the Section 9 of the Emergency Decree on Public Administration in Emergency Situations B.E. 2548 (Issue no. 44) Clause 5, and the announcement with the subject: Preparation for the opening of the semester 1/2565, the Ministry of Public Health and the Department of Health, together with the Ministry of Education, Ministry of Interior and related agencies must take measures to prepare for the opening of the semester 1/2565 by supervising, monitoring and reviewing measures as appropriate to the situation, to focus on enhancing safety in educational institutions and teaching and learning management by taking into account the benefits of all, students, parents, teachers and educational personnel. Thus, Prince of Songkla University specifies the following guidelines for teaching, learning and exam management:

1. The university is open for regular classes (onsite), and Hybrid Learning should be used, by organizing a variety of teaching and learning activities, combining online learning and classroom study in conjunction with other forms of teaching and learning management that emphasize critical thinking, problem-solving, practice, and other skills that can measure and evaluate learning outcomes according to the objectives specified in the course. Campuses, faculties, and programs are authorized to consider flexible, adaptive activities and keep up with the situation for teaching and learning activities while adhering to the university's policies regarding the Hybrid Learning and Active Learning models.

2. Regarding the internships and cooperative education practice, students can travel to enroll in internships or do cooperative education as normal. However, they should strictly comply with the measures or guidelines for disease control as announced by the Ministry of Public Health.

3. Examination format for each subject can be conducted in an onsite exam room, or lecturers may consider modifying it according to the requirements of various learning outcome measurements. The onsite examination can be combined with other appropriate and effective forms of measurement and evaluation, such as online exams, take-home exams, reflection, or work/activity evaluation. The ratio must be consistent with the proportion of Active Learning specified in the course program.

4. Faculties/campuses shall have measures to prevent the spread of the coronavirus disease 2019 (COVID-19), strictly following the announcement of the Ministry of Public Health.

Students can stay in university dormitories, and must follow the announcements of the Student Development and Alumni Division or of other units related to each campus.

This announcement takes effect on the date of issue and remains in effect until a further announcement is issued.

Please be informed and act accordingly.

Announced on 20 May 2022

Niwat Keawpradub

(Asst. Prof. Dr. Niwat Keawpradub)

President of Prince of Songkla University